

English Language

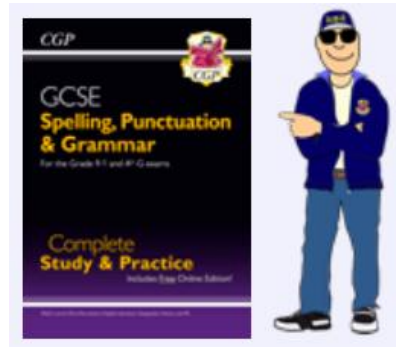

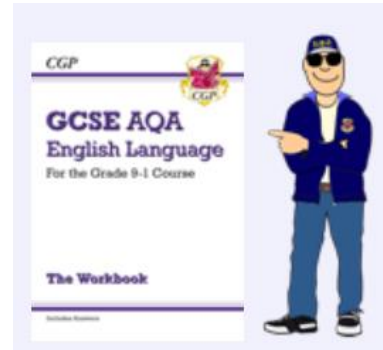

Students will sit two exams

- Paper 1:

- reading and responding to an unseen fiction text
- writing a description or narrative, using an unseen visual stimulus

- Paper 2:

- reading 2 unseen non-fiction texts, one of which will be nineteenth century
- writing a persuasive text, based on an unseen statement

What do students need to revise?

Due to the unseen texts in these exams, students need to revise skills more than content.

They will need to know and learn some key terminology to enable them to analyse language and structure.

Otherwise, it is about practising a range of exam questions.

What revision materials are there?

All students have an English Language workbook, with lots of practice questions and complete exam papers.

All students have a SPAG revision and workbook.

Links to key websites via the link on the school website.

English Literature

Students will sit two exams

- Paper 1:
 - Jekyll and Hyde or Christmas Carol
 - Romeo and Juliet
- Paper 2:
 - An Inspector Calls
 - Anthology Poetry
 - Unseen poetry

What do students need to revise?

Students must revise and know the plot and characters of each set text.

Students could learn some key quotations from each text, with a focus on Lord of the Flies or An Inspector Calls.

Students must revise the context of each set text.

Students need to practise exam-style questions.

What revision materials are there?

All students have a poetry anthology.

All students have access to the English Literature revision booklet homework through Show My Homework.

Links to key websites via the link on the school website.

Revision guides and copies of the set texts available to purchase on ParentPay include example exam questions.